

To whom it may concern,

I have been having French conversation lessons with Celine Anou since October 2012. Celine comes to my house for 1 hour per week, and I have found the lessons really enjoyable, relaxed, and informative. Celine has a very gentle manner, with a lovely sense of humour, and she has encouraged me to converse in French much more confidently. I also love the fact that French is her native language, so I am able to work on my accent more easily, and hear about the French way of life.

I called Celine when I was looking for a French teacher who could help me progress my French in a more natural way, than purely pushing for an exam pass. My family have an apartment in the French Alps and we spend approximately 2 months a year there, and I had also passed GCSE French 3 years ago. Celine very quickly assessed my level of French, and appreciated my enjoyment of the more colloquial language, which we have been working on, along with strengthening my grammar. She sets me homework, but at a level that I am able to achieve without impacting home life too much, and we read French books together, sometimes with audio.

Overall I am thoroughly enjoying my lessons with Celine, and look forward to seeing her each week. I feel my French has progressed and I am more confident to use it when I visit France.

Kind regards

Emma Ryan
